Itinerary

DAY 1: Black Beach of Khalaktyrka

Arrival in Kamchatka and transfer to the hotel in Petropavlovsk. After dropping off your luggage, we will take a first excursion to the spectacular volcanic black sand beach of Khalaktyrka, located on the Pacific Ocean coast (travel time: 40 minutes). There we will have lunch overlooking the coastal landscape and will be able to stroll along the beach, dip our feet in the water, and breathe fresh air after the long hours of flying. It will be a relaxing day to acclimate and start connecting with Kamchatka's wild surroundings. In the evening, dinner at a local restaurant and return to the hotel.

Accommodation: Hotel in Petropavlovsk

DAY 2: Heading north towards Kozyrevsk

We will begin our journey northwards in 4x4 vehicles, crossing volcanic landscapes, birch forests, and remote villages until we reach the small town of Kozyrevsk, at the foot of Kamchatka's great volcanoes. During the approximately 7-hour trip, we will stop in the village of Milkovo to enjoy a typical lunch at a local restaurant. Kozyrevsk, located by the Kamchatka River, will welcome us with its rural tranquility and the warmth of traditional cabins, which feature a Russian sauna to relax after the journey.

Accommodation: Rustic cabins with sauna

Meals: Breakfast + lunch + dinner

DAY 3: Tolbachik volcanic area

From Kozyrevsk we will depart in off-road jeeps towards the spectacular Tolbachik volcanic massif, one of the most imposing on the peninsula. After a 4 to 5-hour drive on dirt tracks and lava fields, we will arrive at the camping area. In the afternoon, we will hike through the most recent lava fields, formed by the latest eruptions, and visit the famous Dead Forest, a testament to volcanic violence. The contrast between the black lava, the absolute silence, and the petrified remains of the forest is simply breathtaking.

Accommodation: Mountain huts or comfort tents

Meals: Breakfast + lunch + dinner

DAY 4: Dead Forest and ash cones

We will spend the day exploring this unique region on foot. We will walk through the Dead Forest, an area of larches charred by the ash fall from the 1975/76 eruptions. We will visit newly formed lava caves and ascend two still-hot volcanic cones, gaining about 200 meters in elevation. The view from their summits is breathtaking: lava fields, secondary cones, and, weather permitting, a stunning panorama of the central Kamchatka volcanoes. An immersive day in the heart of volcanic activity.

Accommodation: Same as previous night

Meals: Breakfast + lunch + dinner

DAY 5: Active crater and lava fields

Today we will venture into one of the youngest areas on the planet: the lava flows from the last major eruption of Tolbachik, which occurred between 2012 and 2013. We will walk over still-hot lava flows, feeling the residual heat of the earth beneath our feet. We will approach the active crater, surrounded by twisted formations of solidified lava, sulfurous chimneys, and palpable volcanic energy. An intense and fascinating day in direct contact with Kamchatka's geological force.

Accommodation: Same as previous night

Meals: Breakfast + lunch + dinner

DAY 6: Culture and rest in Esso

After several days among volcanoes and lava, today we change scenery and head to Esso, considered the cultural heart of Kamchatka. The 4 to 5-hour 4x4 journey takes us through tundra and forest landscapes to this peaceful village surrounded by mountains. We will visit its interesting ethnographic museum, where we will learn about the traditions of the indigenous peoples of the region. In the afternoon, we will enjoy natural hot springs and a relaxing sauna, a highly valued experience by locals to rejuvenate body and soul.

Accommodation: Guesthouse with hot springs and sauna

Meals: Breakfast + lunch + dinner

DAY 7: Rafting on the Bystraja River

Experience a different day rafting down the Bystraja River, which flows through forests and open taiga landscapes. The trip is gentle and requires no prior experience, allowing you to fully enjoy the surroundings. You may spot wildlife such as bears or birds of prey, and if lucky, catch a fish to cook immediately by the fire. It's a perfect day to reconnect with nature from the water on one of the region's most iconic rivers.

Accommodation: Same as previous night

Meals: Breakfast + Lunch + Dinner

DAY 8: Indigenous encounter and return to the coast

In the morning, we will visit Anavgai, a small village where we will learn closely about the life of the indigenous peoples of Kamchatka such as the Koryaks, Itelmen, and Evens. At their cultural center, we will enjoy a display of dances, stories, and tasting of local specialties. After this enriching experience, we will return by vehicle to Petropavlovsk, a 5 to 6-hour journey that will take us back to the starting point on the coast, with time to rest and prepare for the next stage.

Accommodation: Hotel in Petropavlovsk

Meals: Breakfast + lunch

DAY 9: Volcanarium and Avachinsky area

We begin the day with a visit to the Volcanarium, one of the most comprehensive museums about geology and volcanoes in the world, perfect for better understanding the environment we have been exploring. Afterwards, we will transfer by 4x4 vehicles to the Avachinsky volcano area, one of Kamchatka's most iconic giants. There, we will do an acclimatization hike around the base of Avachinsky and its neighboring Koryaksky, in an alpine landscape that seems otherworldly.

Accommodation: Basic mountain shelter

Meals: Breakfast + lunch + dinner

DAY 10: Camel Viewpoint and Paratunka Hot Springs

After breakfast, we will take an easy hike (2–4 hours) to the unique rock formation known as “Camel,” located between the majestic Avachinsky and Koryaksky volcanoes. From this viewpoint, we can admire the vast mountain range and feel the power of the volcanic environment. After the trek, we will travel to Paratunka, a town famous for its natural hot springs. We will stay at a hotel with a thermal pool, where we can relax and enjoy a restorative afternoon.

Accommodation: Hotel with thermal pool

Meals: Breakfast + lunch + dinner

DAY 11: Gorely volcano crater

Today we will explore one of the most accessible and spectacular volcanoes in Kamchatka: Gorely. After a transfer by 4x4 vehicles of approximately 2 hours, we will begin the ascent on well-marked trails to reach the crater's edge in about 2 hours, climbing over 600 meters in elevation. From the summit, the views of the smoking crater and volcanic surroundings are impressive. After the hike, we will return to Petropavlovsk to rest.

Accommodation: Hotel in Petropavlovsk

Meals: Breakfast + lunch

DAY 12: Sailing along the Pacific coast

We will head to the port to embark on a boat excursion along the wild Pacific coast towards Russkaya Bay. During the navigation, we may spot whales, sea lions, seals, and large seabirds like Steller's eagles. We will also enjoy a deep-sea fishing session and cook what we catch right on board. A unique marine day to enjoy the ocean that bathes Kamchatka.

Alojamiento: Igual que noche anterior

Comida: Desayuno + almuerzo

DAY 13: Free day with optional excursions

Day reserved for optional activities or rest. Among the highlighted options is a helicopter flight over Kuril Lake for brown bear watching or over the spectacular Valley of the Geysers and the Uzon Caldera, both unique Natural Heritage sites in the world. It is also possible to choose a cultural immersion with local indigenous communities, featuring workshops, music, and tasting of traditional cuisine.

Accommodation: Hotel in Petropavlovsk

Meals: Breakfast + lunch

DAY 14: End of the expedition

After an intense and enriching experience exploring volcanoes, forests, coasts, and remote communities, it's time to say goodbye to Kamchatka. After breakfast, we will transfer to Petropavlovsk airport for the return flight. End of the trip and an incredible adventure in one of the wildest regions on the planet.

FAQs

How do I get to Kamchatka from my country?

To get to Kamchatka, it is common to first fly to Moscow (Russia) and then take a domestic flight to Petropavlovsk-Kamchatsky Airport (PKC), the main gateway to the peninsula. There are regular flights from Moscow that last approximately 8-9 hours. Alternatively, during certain seasons, there are also connections via Beijing. We recommend checking the most convenient options based on your country of origin and booking in advance due to the limited flight frequency.

What level of physical activity is required?

This trip includes trekking, 4x4 transfers, boats, and helicopter rides, but it is designed for all levels, without requiring exceptional physical fitness. Since most of these trips are private, we can tailor it to your specific needs and requirements.

What means of transportation are used?

The trip combines 4x4 jeeps, motorboats or yachts in the Pacific, and private transfers, ensuring comfort and access to remote locations. There is an optional extra day available by helicopter.

Are the trips to Kamchatka group tours or private?

Most of our Kamchatka expeditions are private trips, available for groups starting from 2 people and fully customizable on any date during the summer. They are guided by our local guide Elena, an expert in the region who speaks English, Spanish, and Russian fluently, ensuring a close, safe, and enriching experience both naturally and culturally.

What is the weather like in summer in Kamchatka?

In summer, temperatures range from 15°C to 20°C, with a humid climate that is ideal for outdoor activities.

Can the tour be customized?

Yes, the program is customizable: the 14-day tour covers the south and center of the peninsula and can be customized. We also offer a shorter program in the region if you have fewer days: SOUTH KAMCHATKA, TIERRA DE FIRE (9 days).

What are the differences between the 9-day and 14-day Kamchatka tours?

The 9-day program is designed for those seeking an intense but shorter experience: it focuses on the southern part of Kamchatka, including the Avachinsky Volcano, the Pacific coast, wildlife viewing, and hot springs. The 14-day trip, on the other hand, is a more comprehensive adventure, which, in addition to the south, includes the central part of the peninsula, with active volcanoes like Tolbachik, 4x4 treks through unique volcanic landscapes, and more days of trekking in the wilderness of the central part of the peninsula.

Do I need a visa to travel to Kamchatka?

Yes, and the good news is that citizens of many countries can obtain a Russian e-Visa quickly and easily online. This electronic visa allows a single entry, is valid for up to 16 days in the country, and can be processed online in just a few minutes if you meet the requirements. All you need is a valid passport and to complete the form on the official website of the Russian Foreign Ministry.

What makes the 14-day Kamchatka trip special?

The 14-day program allows you to discover not only southern Kamchatka but also the central region, one of the most remote and wild areas on the peninsula. Throughout the trip, we explore active volcanoes such as Tolbachik, cross ancient lava fields, visit ice caves, steaming craters, volcanic forests, and explore 4x4 trails that traverse unexplored landscapes. It's a comprehensive tour that combines adventure, extreme geology, and unspoiled nature, ideal for those seeking a profound, unique, and unspoiled experience.

What is the best season to take this trip?

The summer months (June to September) are the best recommended to explore Kamchatka, each with its own charm: June: thawing landscape, fewer tourists, and wildflowers. Some areas still inaccessible. July: ideal weather, bear activity in the rivers, and excellent for hiking and helicopter flights. August: the warmest month, perfect for volcanoes and rafting, though with possible rain. September: autumn begins, colorful landscapes and fewer crowds, but more variable weather.
