DAY 2 TO 7 : SKIING IN PARADISE

Each night, the whole group will evaluate the different proposals and mountains in the area to decide, together with the guide, on the best plan that suits everyone for the following day. Most of the peaks rise over 1,000 meters; keep in mind that we start skiing right from the beach. Some of the most popular peaks in the region include: Fastdalstinden, Trolltinden, Storgalten... If the group wants, one evening we can go out for dinner or have a few beers in Lyngseidet.

Accommodation: Cabin

DAY 8 : RETURN TO TROMSO AIRPORT

On this final day, we'll pack our bags and leave the cabin early to drive to the airport and catch our return flight.

FAQs

What average skill level is required?

For this Ski Touring trip, you must have a suitable level of off-piste skiing and have previously participated in some ski touring activities (randonnee/ski touring). B4Experience organizes open weeks by grouping individual travelers by physical and technical level, so that you share the route with people of similar ability and enjoy a consistent experience. Don't hesitate to contact us so we can jointly assess whether you have the right skiing level. If you already know you enjoy skiing far and on steep slopes and are looking for a challenge, we recommend coming with a group of friends (minimum 4 people recommended) and reserving an entire mountain hut for yourselves. Weather and snow conditions will, of course, determine what and where we ski. We can adapt the level to your wishes and skill level.

Can I join on my own and what is the group size?

Yes. Solo travellers can join open groups with no extra charge; you can also book the entire cabin privately with your group of friends for a personalised experience. The group consists of 6 to 7 clients plus a guide.

What is the best time to enjoy ski touring in Lofoten?

The programme runs from February to April, the window with the most stable snow, good daylight hours, and a chance to see the northern lights.

What is the accommodation like?

In Tromsø, we will stay in a magnificent and spacious cabin in the village of Koppangen. Right at the foot of the mountains, with the sea in front. The main village in the area, Lyngseidet, is about a 20-minute drive away.

How do I get to the starting point and is the transfer included?

You fly to Tromsø airport, there we pick up the vehicles (included) and drive about 2 hours to the cabin.

How are meals organised and can they be adapted to special diets?

A common grocery shop is done on arrival and the cost is split among participants; if you have allergies or dietary preferences, you can indicate them on the booking form and they will be accommodated. There is an optional DELUXE package that includes all meals and a cook.

What happens if the weather prevents skiing one day?

The itinerary is flexible: the guide will relocate the outing to more sheltered mountains or suggest alternative activities (sauna, cod fishing, ...). Safety always comes first.

What's the difference between the "Ski Lofoten – Cabin" and the "Ski Tromsø – Lyngen Alps" programs?

The trip to Lofoten is scheduled from February to April, when the Arctic winter still offers cold powder snow and there's enough daylight to make the most of the day. You fly to Evenes (Harstad/Narvik) and stay in a cabin near Svolvær, facing the sea, from which we set out daily towards the mountains that literally rise from the shore. The Tromsø program, on the other hand, runs from April to May in the Lyngen Alps, taking advantage of the spring snowpack and the long daylight hours (nearly midnight sun). The entry point is Tromsø Airport, from where we head to the Lyngen Fjord to ski higher peaks and accessible glaciers. In summary, both itineraries aim for the best snow available at each point in the season.

What is a typical day like during the trip?

Each evening, the group and the guide assess the conditions and decide together on the best plan for the following day. Skiing usually starts right from the shoreline and reaches peaks over 1,000m such as Fastdalstinden, Trolltinden, or Storgalten. Ski days can also be combined with activities like sauna sessions, cod fishing, or exploring the stunning fjords. The atmosphere is relaxed and flexible, with shared decisions and a strong focus on safety and enjoyment.
